PORTLAND, Eng., Sept. 16.—The Bulk of Great Britain's home fleet has disappeared from here on the eve of its scheduled maneuvers off Scotland. Although no officials would discuss the present location, the street talk is that these ships are steaming for the Mediterranean.

Previous admiralty announcements said the home fleet was assembling here in preparation for the autumn maneuvers, but tonight the visible supply of warships on hand appeared to consist of three battleships, one cruiser, 15 obsolete world war ships, and miscellaneous non-fighting and supply ships. The normal strength of the home fleet is about 50 fighting vessels.

The strength of the British navy here is represented by the battleships Rodney, Nelson, and Royal Sovereign, the cruiser Cairo, and destroyers of which many are listed by the admiralty as on the reserve list.

The harbor roadstead swarmed with ships until late in the week when they were ordered to depart. The great battle cruiser Hood, which had rounded up all sailors and officers in Portland and ordered them to board their ships.

All the admiralty would say was that the missing ships probably

HITLER RELEGATES JEWS IN GERMANY TO MIDDLE AGES STATUS

PROHIBITIVE MEASURES ANNOUNCED PLACES JEWISH PEOPLE IN LOWEST RANKS

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 16.—(P)—The Reichstag of Adolf Hitler today relegated Jews in the Germany of the future to their position during the middle ages.

They may not become citizens, intermarry with Aryans, have intimate relations with Gentiles, nor even employ Aryan servant girls under 45 years of age.

The third relic of the future, by unanimous decision of the 600 Hitler followers who make up the reichstag, will be one in which Aryan citizens who "by their attitude indicate they are willing and fit to serve faithfully the people and the reich" will be separated sharply from "belongers to the state."

Legislation embodying these points was passed last night amid scenes of unexampled patriotic fervor and approbation for the course Hitler has chosen to pursue strictly along the lines laid

Selassie May Be Forced To Order Mobilization Soon

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 16.—(P)—Friends of Emperor Haile Selassie said tonight that he may be obliged soon to proclaim nation-wide mobilization unless the League of Nations finds some way of saving the situation.

This information came as dispatches were received from Addis Ababa saying the Italian army was indulging in heavy artillery practice, flame throwing, and other spectacular types of war practice in order to frighten the Ethiopians on the other side of the frontier from Eritrea.

The dispatches reported that the tribes remained undisturbed in their positions.

Some of the Emperor's advisers were reported to favor immediate mobilization as a precautionary measure, owing to the continued heavy rain and the resultant bad condition of roads, it would require several weeks for some of the Ethiopian forces to reach the front.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS BATTLEGROUND FOR SEVERAL NATIONS

SMALL NATIONS DEMAND THAT LEAGUE FULFILL ITS RESPONSIBILITIES TO ALL

By WADE WERNER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

GENEVA, Sept. 16.—(P)—Reliable sources disclosed tonight that a preliminary plan for an economic boycott against Italy in case that nation should launch an unprovoked war are being worked out among certain members of the League of Nations.

This disclosure came after a day in the League assembly in which Poland had snubbed Soviet Russia—her delegates walking out on a speech by Maxim Litvinoff, Russian foreign commissar—and in which Panama, the Irish Free State and Haiti had warned the League it must prevent the conquest of a smaller nation by a larger.

The sources in question said the British delegation to the League had suggested the idea of a general economic blockade against Italy in case she attacks Ethiopia and that the plan for such a blockade had already been provisionally mapped out.

The suggestion, regarded as a preliminary step toward a preliminary project, was understood to be a sequel to the pledge given by Premier Laval of France that, if the worst came to worst, France, loyal to the League assembly, would be disposed to participate in collective economic and financial sanctions.

French circles described the policy of France in the present emergency as based upon a desire to limit as much as possible the scope of any measures of restraint.

PREACHER DECLARES DISTRICT ATTORNEY IN PLOT MURDER SENATOR LONG

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 16.—(P)—Dr. Carl A. Weiss, Jr., assassin of Senator Huey P. Long, met death from pistol wounds in the head, chest and abdomen, a coroner's jury decided today after hearing bodyguards of the later senator testify to ridging his body with bullets.

At one point during the testimony, both the Long supporters and the anti-Long men were on their feet, but there was no clash.

The verdict read:

"Dr. Carl A. Weiss came to his death as the result of pistol wounds of the head, chest and abdomen (homicidal)."

Coroner T. B. Bird added: "That's all."

Later the same jury held: "Senator Huey P. Long came to his death as a result of a gunshot wound (homicidal)."

District Attorney John Fred Odom, who conducted the inquiry said the inquiry was closed as far as he was concerned but Attorney General Gaston L. Porter said he did not know whether he would pursue the inquiry.

Republican Named Head New Alcohol Control Bureau

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 16.—(P)—President Roosevelt today selected Franklin C. Hoyt, of New Hamburg, N. Y., to head the new bureau in the treasury for federal control of alcohol.

Hoyt, a judge in New York City for 25 years, called at the home of President Roosevelt today with Joseph B. Choate, the retiring head of the old federal alcohol control administration which was eliminated following the supreme court ruling against the NRA.

Harris Willingham, assistant to Choate, also was present and it is expected he will continue to serve with Judge Hoyt.

Hoyt, who is a grandson of Salmon P. Chase, the secretary of the treasury in the cabinet of President Lincoln, was the winner of the heart temperance contest in 1929 with an award of $2,000.

Hoyt is a republican as was Joseph Choate. For 19 years he served as judge of the court of special sessions in New York City.

(By The Associated Press.)

Week-end automobile accidents today had taken a toll of fifteen dead in Texas. Two accidents took four lives each.

Four were killed in San Antonio late yesterday when a machine driven by a delegate to the Spanish-American war veterans encampment there hit the side of a special train bearing New York and Connecticut delegates to the gathering.

A head-on collision of two motor cars injured four persons fatally near Kerrville early yesterday.

Dead in the San Antonio accident were: P. B. Beville, a veteran from Mesa, Ariz., who was driving the car; Mrs. Anna Kinney Jones of San Antonio and her daughters, Joan, 15, and Mary, 12. Mrs. Jones and her daughters were in the Beville car.

Killed instantly in the accident near Kerrville were Olin Strange, 40; Mrs. Mittie B. Bridges, 38, and Livrado Sallinas, 80. Charles H. Mockie, 50, died in a hospital.

Mother and Child Burned To Death In Tent Quarters

HENDERSON, Sept. 16.—(P)—Two members of a family of five were burned to death and the others painfully seared when their tent home was destroyed by fire near Turnertown late yesterday.

Mrs. F. E. Trout, 26, and her daughter, Wanda Lee, 8, were trapped and burned to death. The father and two other small children, painfully burned and unable to rescue the mother and daughter, were rushed to a hospital here.

The family formerly resided at Morris, Okla.

An investigation revealed an oil pipe line running near the tent was ignited by a stove.

POLITICAL HEIRS OF SLAIN LOUISIANA DICTATOR SEEKING TO SALVAGE HIS STATE REALM

By ANDRUE BERDING
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

ROME, Sept. 16.—(P)—Just now Great Britain may react if Germany tries to win back the Memel territory from Lithuania as viewed with interests by official Italy today.

A government spokesman explained that while Italy, in general, was indifferent to yesterday's speech by Reichsfuehrer Hitler, in which he mentioned an increasing German anxiety concerning Memel, she was interested in observing what Great Britain's reaction may be.

The spokesman said it would be significant to observe whether Great Britain would pursue her same policy of fidelity to League of Nations principles in the face of Hitler's pronouncement of interest in Memel.

An official source said that if Great Britain is not to lay herself open to the accusation of inconsistency, she must oppose German designs on league-guaranteed territory with the same firm-

DESIRE TO SEE IF MEMEL WILL BE SAFEGUARDED BY LEAGUE OF NATIONS

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 16.—(P)—Amid talk of a truce with the new deal the political heirs of the assassinated Huey P. Long laid plans today for a caucus to salvage all possible from his Louisiana dictatorship and national following.

Meanwhile, parish authorities renewed their up-to-now futile efforts to establish the exact circumstances of the death of the senator's slayer.

Renewal of the inquest gave Senator Long's bodyguards their fourth chance to tell how they poured nearly sixty bullets into the body of Dr. Carl A. Weiss, Jr., after he shot Long in the street house a week ago last night.

"No statements by anybody," Long said as he entered the hospital in which he died little more than 30 hours later.

Thus far, the guards who cut Weiss down, most of them highway patrolmen, have adhered to the literal meaning of that command, thrice ignoring the invitations of the parish coroner to appear at sessions of the inquest.

The coroner, Dr. Thomas A. Bird, and District Attorney John Fred Odom, both believed they could compel the guards to attend the inquest, but they were doubtful that they could compel them to testify. Odom said he had yet to hear the details of the shooting from a witness who had seen all of it.

The Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, national organizer of the Long Share-our-wealth clubs, charged that his dead chief was

Death List From Train Wreck Was Set at 10 Today

MONROE, La., Sept. 16.—(P)—The death list from the derailment and burning of an eastbound Illinois Central freight train today in West Monroe mounted to twelve with the death last night of Pete Griggs, 25, of Calhoun, La., at a sanitarium here.

It was necessary to amputate Griggs' right leg at the scene of the accident after rescue workers had toiled in vain to lift an iron beam off his crushed leg as flame licked at the car under which he was pinned.

Six others injured in the wreck were reported as improved.

Work of removing the debris at the scene of the accident continued today as the bodies of the other victims would be recovered.

Two transients on the train, who witnessed the derailment, said that 30 or 40 transients were on two oil tank cars which were derailed and burst into flames and declared that it was hardly possible that all but nine of them escaped death.

GOVERNMENT ASKS DISMISSAL FIRST GUFFEY BILL SUIT

CASE ATTACKING CONSTITUTIONALITY RECENTLY-PASSED LAW HELD PREMATURE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(P)—Dismissal of the first legal challenge of the Guffey coal stabilization bill was asked by the government today in District of Columbia supreme court on the ground it was premature.

The case, attacking the constitutionality of the recently-enacted bill to set up a "Little NRA" for the bituminous industry, was brought in by James W. Carter, a southern West Virginia producer.

In asking that the request for an injunction be denied government attorneys headed by John L. Dickinson, assistant attorney general, presented the following contentions:

1. The act is not effective until the national bituminous coal commission has been set up to enforce it.

2. No taxes have been levied or assessed under the act.

3. It is impossible for the court to determine now if the act will injure the company or is an abuse.

4. The act provides "complete and adequate statutory form of remedy" and acceptance does not stop the company from "contesting."

CONSTITUTION DAY OF GREATER INTEREST THIS YEAR; CHARGED ADMINISTRATION WRECKING IT

By MAX BOYD
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(P)—Controversy over plans of some democrats to stage the constitutional issue against President Roosevelt in the party convention next year provided an unusual prelude today to the nation's annual observance of Constitution Day.

Prediction by John Henry Kirby, chairman of the southern committee to uphold the constitution, that his movement would defeat the President and "dictate" the democratic nomination, brought quick retort from Senator Thomas (Dak.) Dill.

"They've got to point out some constitutional guarantee that's being destroyed—that's their first task," he said. "They haven't got it yet."

In announcing plans for a revolt of Southern democrats against the new deal, Kirby said at a press conference here yesterday that his committee had 50,000 enrollees and held the support of 70 per cent of the Southern electorate.

Describing himself as an old-time Texas democrat, the 74-year-old committee chairman said that if the republicans next year nominate a candidate who is "loyal to the constitution of our fathers, we may support him."

Senator Thomas took issue with Kirby's contention that President Roosevelt had "quarreled" with the supreme court.

"The present Democratic president, like every other president before him, has respected the courts," Thomas said.

TRIPLE ASSIGNMENT IS FACING CALLED SESSION FORTY-FOURTH LEGISLATURE CONVENING TODAY

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.—(P)—A triple assignment faced the forty-fourth legislature called into its first special session at noon today.

The immediate task was to evolve a system of liquor control to replace statewide prohibition repealed Aug. 24. Others were to set up an old-age pension plan and eliminate the fee system of remunerating county officials.

Closely connected was the problem of raising revenue to defray the cost of pensions and possibly to meet the huge deficit in the general and confederate pension funds.

In the background were the subjects of public utility regulation, licensing of automobile drivers, lightening delinquent tax collections and oil conservation, depending on submission by Governor Allred.

Governor Allred indicated he would limit immediate consideration to regulation of the liquor traffic, but would submit old-age pensions and abolition of the fee system at an early date. He was expected to recommend tax legislation simultaneously with old-age pensions.

Members said prospects were for a stormy session. Speaker Coke Stevenson of Junction and Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul of Houston maintained after a conference with Governor Allred that the work could be done in 30 days, but others said it might not be consummated "by Christmas."

Two Controversial Measures.

SPECIAL FAVORS FOR GERMAN GOODS END OCTOBER 15TH

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT INSTRUCTS TREASURY CEASE GRANTING FAVORS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—(P)—In line with Germany's action a year ago notifying the United States she would terminate the "most favored nation" pact with this country, the commissioner of customs directed today that effective October 15 regular duties must be paid on all German goods coming here.

Collector of customs were instructed not to extend to Germany any reduced duties or other concessions granted in trade agreements with Belgium, Sweden and Haiti.

The instructions were sent after President Roosevelt had notified the acting secretary of the treasury that on October 15 "The United States will cease to be bound by the provisions of Article 7 of the treaty of friendship, commerce and consular rights between Germany and the United States, signed December 8, 1923, providing for most favored nation treatment in respect of customs duties."

ENACTMENT LIQUOR CONTROL MEASURE TO BE CHIEF BUSINESS

OLD AGE PENSION PLAN AND NEW SYSTEM PAYING COUNTY OFFICERS ALSO FACED

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.—(P)—The forty-fourth legislature convened at noon today in one of the most important special sessions in Texas history.

Enactment of liquor control legislation to replace statewide prohibition repealed August 24 was the first duty. Orders to be assigned were setting up an old-age pension plan and a new system of remunerating county officers.

A joint session of both houses was arranged for soon after preliminary organization to hear Governor Allred's message delivered personally.

At a caucus, the senate re-elected all officers, including Bob Parker of Fort Worth, secretary, and A. W. Holt, sergeant-at-arms.

Senator Will M. Martin of Hillsboro was elected president pro tempore, succeeding Senator John S. Reddick of Lufkin.

Four of the 31 senators were absent, J. W. E. H. Beck of De Kalb, Ernest Bellbaum, Sr., of San Antonio, Weaver Moore of Houston and Allan Shivers of Port Arthur. Moore and Bellbaum were ill.

The Rev. James O'Brien, vice-president of St. Edward's University, delivered the invocation.

The house elected Ernest J. Boyett of Junction sergeant-at-arms to succeed Joe White of San Antonio, resigned. Boyett had been an assistant sergeant-at-arms.

Election Contest Filed.

H. B. Sessions of Ballinger was seated as a house member and a contest of his election filed by D. M. West of Bronte referred to the committee on privileges, suffrage and elections. West challenged Sessions.

GOVERNOR DELIVERS MESSAGE ON LIQUOR CONTROL PERSONALLY

CALLS FOR LEGISLATION DEFINING OPEN SALOON AND TO PROTECT DRY AREAS

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.—(P)—Governor Allred submitted the subject of liquor regulation to a special session of the forty-fourth legislature meeting at noon today.

In a message personally delivered to a joint session of the house and senate, the governor called for legislation clearly defining an "open saloon" and preserving the integrity of territory under local option.

He announced he would submit the subject of fixing salaries for county officers tomorrow and within the week that of old-age pensions. It was expected the last would open the broad field of revenue and taxation.

The session was called to make effective constitutional amendments adopted August 24 repealing statewide prohibition, authorizing old-age pensions and substituting a salary basis for the fee system of remunerating county officers.

The governor declared no legislature ever had been called in special session to deal with problems of greater importance, and the "combined wisdom" of the legislative and executive departments was needed to solve them.

In his humble judgment, the people want no subterfuge definition.

SOVIET UNION AND PORTUGAL ADDED TO LEAGUE SUPPORTERS

RUSSIANS RENEW PROPOSAL OF TOTAL DISARMAMENT FOR EUROPE

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY (Associated Press Foreign Staff)

GENEVA, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Canada and Soviet Russia, embracing vast stretches of territory on opposite sides of the globe, joined the rally around the League of Nations covenant on the bitter Italo-Ethiopian quarrel today.

George Howard Ferguson, Canadian representative at Geneva, told the league assembly Canada cannot agree that any member of the league is warranted in resorting to war to enforce its claims "in violation of its solemn pledges to seek a peaceful settlement for every dispute."

Canada hopes an honorable and peaceful solution of the controversy will yet be reached, he said.

Spokesmen for the little entente, the Balkan entente, the Baltic states and other nations joined the rally, swelling in protest against an Italian invasion of Ethiopia.

New Zealand followed Canada's lead when Sir James Carr, her spokesman, told the assembly that for his nation "there is only the question of defending the covenant of the league as the instrument of peace."

He warned, moreover, that "the covenant is not enough to create a nation by saying that certain bilateral non-aggression pacts actually are designed for security and aggression."

The Poles and German who heard his address interpreted the remark as an attack on the German-Polish treaty of non-aggression.

Litvinoff said that while Russia's non-aggression pacts with her neighbors included a special clause for suspending the pact if aggression were committed by one of the parties against a third state, there are other pacts which contain no such clause.

This was regarded as an allusion to the Polish-German treaty.

May Attack Third State. The Soviet spokesman said that under such pacts a signatory "obtained the facility for attacking with impunity any state."

In quick succession spokesmen for Portugal, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Latvia and the Balkan Entente added their voices to the pledge to remain faithful to the league covenant.

Thus they joined Great Britain and France in their determined stand against an Italo-Ethiopian war.

As the speakers pledged allegiance to the league, it was understood in diplomatic circles that an important factor of the scheme being discussed by the five-power committee for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute is "territorial adjustment."

Territorial Offer. The plan now under consideration was understood to be an enlargement of the offer made by Anthony Eden of Great Britain in Rome to hand over a strip of British Somaliland territory to Ethiopia in return for which Ethiopia would give part of its land to Italy.

The new scheme, it was said, envisaged a joint Anglo-French offer of a strip of land, half in French and half in British Somaliland, which would enable Ethiopia to have access to the sea.

In return Ethiopia would give Italy a patch of territory in the southeast.

Emperor Haile Selassie would undertake to maintain a free port in the newly-acquired territory, thus providing access for new Italian settlement.

The plan was believed to be a part of a supreme last-minute effort by Great Britain and France to achieve peaceful settlement of the dispute.

GENEVA, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The spokesmen of the Soviet Union and Portuguese delegations to the League of Nations assembly today added their countries' voices to the chorus of nations which have pledged fidelity to the League covenant in the Italo-Ethiopian quarrel.

Maxim Litvinoff, speaking for the Soviet delegation, told the assembly that for his delegation "there is only the question of defending the covenant as an instrument of peace."

Armando Monteiro, representing Portugal, expressed a similar attitude on behalf of his country.

Litvinoff told the assembly that all efforts at conciliation fail and the Italo-Ethiopian question comes before the council or assembly, his delegation will pass its judgment upon "impartiality and also with courage."

Russians Promise Action. This impartiality and courage Litvinoff said, "will not be shaken by intimidation by the way of abuses and attacks in the press or by any other method."

"I think I defined in the council session," he said, "the attitude and principal of the Soviet government toward a conflict of this kind with the utmost clearness. For the Soviet delegation there is no question of siding with one party or the other in the conflict of defending anyone's interests."

Litvinoff, speaking in English, was lengthily applauded.

"As you know," he continued, "the Soviet government's principle is opposed to the system of colonies, a policy of spheres of influence and to anything pertaining to imperialistic aims. For the Soviet delegation there is only the question of defending the cove-

AMERICAN COUNCIL EDUCATION CHALLENGES PRESENT SCHOOL SET-UP; SURVEY IS PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The American council on education has challenged the existing school setup and seeks to determine if it is out of touch with social and economic times.

A broad effort to rechart the course of education and gear it with changing forces of the day was mapped yesterday by the council, the creation of a non-governmental commission of 14 members who will meet Monday to launch a four-point program of inquiry into youth problems.

An $800,000 grant will finance the five year intensive survey which is designed to be fact-finding and remedial.

In announcing the plan, Dr. George F. Zook, council president, laid emphasis on the fact that youth plays in the present-day crisis.

He said youth's problems "may constitute a fundamental threat to national welfare."

Dr. Zook reported to the justice department in 1934, Dr. Zook said, 114,233 or 37.5 per cent were under 25 years of age and 15.1 per cent under 20. He said there are no existing social agencies "equipped to provide adequate supervision and protection for these young people."

The four-fold undertaking includes:

1—Analysis of the characteristics of youth and an evaluation of the influences to which they are subject.

2—Study of commonly accepted goals in the education of youth to determine the adequacy of these goals in relation to the social, economic and political trends.

3—Investigation of agencies concerned with the youth problem, and the recommendation of procedures which seem to influence the young effectively.

4—Systematic popularization of desirable plans of action through conferences, publications and demonstrations.

Dr. Zook, a former commissioner of education, said the new commission will choose a full time director who will chart the study.

Another special session of the Louisiana legislature sought to undo much of work of previous dictated sessions.

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Another special session of Louisiana's legislature convened today, this time to undo some of the work it had pushed through at the dictation of Senator Huey Long.

As the Long forces sought peace with the White House and anti-Long elements renewed their opposition to the machine left by the assassinated dictator, special session talk was heard in both camps.

At the same time the possibility that Long's name could be carried on in public office arose when it became known that an attempt might be made to have his widow accept appointment to her husband's unexpired term, which ran a year and four months to run.

Sources close to the leadership said such a plan had been discussed at some conferences.

From Judge B. H. Pavy, father-in-law of the man who shot Senator Long last Sunday night, came the assertion today that the shooting "must have been an act of God."

He said he was at a loss to explain why his son-in-law, Dr. Carl A. Weiss, Jr., had sent a bullet into Senator Long's abdomen, but declared it was "just possible" Weiss was disturbed by one of the bills Long was pushing through the legislature.

Threat against Judge Pavy's place on the bench.

No Part in Plot. Members of the slain assassin's family again joined in sending Dr. Weiss had taken no part in a supposed plot on Senator Long's life. They said more than a dozen persons could attest he was treating patients or was with his family on July 21 and 22, the dates on which Senator Long had alleged an assassination plot against him was hatched in New Orleans.

The likelihood of a special session was based on several reasons.

The Long lieutenant, decided on a major departure from their leader's policies in conferences looking to a truce offer with President Roosevelt, will need legislative action to repeal some laws enacted in the seven special sessions held since last year. Some of these laws were aimed directly at the Roosevelt administration.

Roosevelt attempted to regulate federal relief expenditures in Louisiana and to inaugurate a "state's rights" test of Roosevelt policies.

PLANS READY FOR NEARLY $3,000,000 OF HIGHWAY WORK

AUSTIN, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Plans were ready today for nearly $3,000,000 of highway construction projects which held approval of the federal bureau of public roads.

The projects were announced at a public hearing held in Austin today. The projects included a bridge spanning the Sabine river at Logansport, La., on Texas Highway 35 and Louisiana Highway 9 between De Soto, La., and Shelby county, Texas. The two states would co-operate in the project.

Other jobs were for either concrete or asphalt surfacing in Trinity county on Highway 19, Ditta, Highway 24; Panola, Highway 8; Floyd, Lamar, Highway 49, and a bridge on Highway 2 in Hays county.

Anti-Long leaders want a special session to repeal some of the Long election laws, vesting broad control of the polls in the state, before the quadrennial state primaries in January, at which Senator Long's supporters for the all term, congressmen and all important state offices from governor down, are to be named.

Confirmation of a proposed truce between the Long political heirs and President Roosevelt came from Congressman Paul H. Maloney, who said after a state administration caucus:

"The battle between Senator Long and President Roosevelt is, I think, and many of us think the same way, that a democratic state should work with a general good of the state. I will be glad to do my part, but as yet the thing is unsettled."

He declared for "concessions" on both sides.

Income Tax Probes. Leaders in the state administration high command are particularly anxious to see the government terminate its income tax investigations among leading Long followers.

Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, national organizer for Share-Nothing Clubs, who only the day before delivered the eulogy at Long's grave, went on the air here last night and in a speech similar to those the senator used to make, assailed Louisiana newspapers, charged Long's death had brought "glorifying and serpentine hisses" in some quarters, and told his hearers the Louisiana organization leaders "are standing together as one man to carry on the work of Huey Long."

Edie Christenberry, secretary, said last night that "it will surprise everybody how small the senator's estate will be."

He said Long carried $50,000 in life insurance but he did not know what portion of it carried double indemnity clauses. There is a $28,000 loan against the policies, made up against the Christenberry said "for printing political circulars and in order that the senator might make a deposit to stop a run on a bank."

MUSSOLINI TELLS CABINET WAR PLANS ARE BEING RUSHED

FRENCH AND BRITISH EMBASSIES IN ROME UNDER HEAVY GUARD TODAY

By ANDRUE BERDING (Associated Press Foreign Staff)

ROME, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The Italian cabinet, meeting with Premier Mussolini, refused today to accept any compromise solution of Italy's quarrel with Ethiopia.

The cabinet also "examined in what cases Italy's remaining in the League of Nations might be rendered impossible," it was announced.

Di Duce, who holds eight cabinet portfolios himself, told his colleagues that Italy's military preparations in East Africa are proceeding with greater intensity and that Libya, on the Western border of Egypt, has been reinforced.

Now "it is able to answer any threat, from whatever direction it may come," he declared.

As the cabinet met, both the French and British embassies were under strong guard. The Associated Press correspondent counted 20 uniformed policemen at the French embassy and 30 at the British.

The cabinet declared the speeches of Premier Laval of France and Sir Samuel Hoare, the British foreign secretary, were received with the greatest calm.

However, Mussolini told the cabinet that Italy's colonial conflict would not shatter her friendship with France.

The speeches of Laval and Sir Samuel Hoare, the British foreign secretary, before the League of Nations assembly, could not have been what they were, in position in regard to the League, because of the Anglo-French pact, Di Duce said.

Nevertheless, the cabinet declared Italy's friendship with France, and fortify Italo-French friendship not only in the interest of the two countries but also in the interest of European collaboration which cannot be achieved by a conflict of colonial character or by the use of sanctions, which never were specified and never applied in the most serious previous conflict between members of the league.

British to Protect Egypt. CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Premier Tawfik Asasha Nessim in a statement tonight said the British Viceroy Admiral C. M. Forbes had assured him that the British government would be disposed to assume Egypt's protection in the event of an Italo-Ethiopian war.

Admiral Forbes, second in command of the Mediterranean fleet, is at present in command of British warships assembled at Alexandria.

Italian Civilians Leaving Ethiopia. By JAMES A. MILLS (Associated Press Foreign Staff)

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Baron MUZZI ALITALI, Italian consul who was recently shot and killed, today said the retreat of Italian civilians out of Ethiopia.

Accompanied by his English wife, Falconi departed for Italy completely recovered from his wounds.

The wives of three Swedish officers and their children also got out today.

Many Italian missionaries and nuns, stationed in the interior, showed reluctance to leave. They declared themselves disciples of the Pope and not Premier Mussolini's followers.

A number of correspondents, including one American, were forced to bed, affected by the high altitude.

Meanwhile, Emperor Haile Selassie, undisturbed by the threat of war which hangs over his country, opened a fruit shop in the center of his capital to sell produce from his model farms at 10 cents.

This shop, Americans and others may get high grade bananas, oranges, strawberries and other products.

He said the rancio-Ethiopian railroad, the emperor's farm in the first of its kind in Ethiopia. Here the progressive sovereign is cultivating a large tract of former waste land to show his people the possibilities of fertile plateau. The expert Italian agriculturist formerly in charge has been replaced by a native.

ITALY'S OWN GOLD TO BE USED FINANCE ETHIOPIAN DEFENSE

By JAMES A. MILLS (Associated Press Foreign Staff)

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie ordered today mobilization of 75 per cent of the officials and employees of all government departments.

In view of the increasing war menace, the emperor said, the entire fortune left him by his father the late Tafari Makonnen to the secret war fund Emperor Menelik established. The bulk of the fund consists of 10,000,000 gold lira (about $600,000) which Italy paid Menelik after the Adua dis-

CORSICANANS ARE INJURED IN WRECK OIL TRAIN MONROE

UNDETERMINED NUMBER OF MEN BELIEVED HAVE LOST LIVES SATURDAY

MONROE, La., Sept. 14.—(AP)—At least nine persons were believed by rescue workers to have lost their lives early today in the derailment and burning of a string of cars of an east-bound Illinois Central freight train three miles west of Monroe.

The bodies of four victims, all transient and unidentified, had been removed at noon today from the burned wreckage and were placed in the city morgue. The charred remains of other bodies were believed to be still in the ruins.

At least seven other men were carried from the wreckage and placed in a local hospital for treatment. One of them, suffering from the forced amputation of his right leg by physicians at the scene of the derailment in order to release him from under a heavy beam.

Fire broke out immediately after the accident, spreading to the wreckage and most of those who died were victims of the flames, which spread through the wreckage. Oil from an overturned tanker furnished fuel for the blaze.

The injured were identified as: Pete Griggs, 23, resident of Outchita parish, who was trapped under a wrecked car. Physically found it necessary to amputate his leg before he could be extricated. Hospital attaches said he may not survive.

Joseph Burchik, 60, of Shreveport, broken arm and leg, was brought to a hospital.

James Bradford, 60, New Orleans, minor injury to right arm. J. H. Harrell, 16, Corsicana, Tex., fractured right leg.

J. C. Howell, Corsicana, fracture of collar bone.

Roger Johnson, negro, 50, Shreveport, broken arm and leg, probable fracture of shoulder.

T. Magee, 22, negro, Epss, probable fracture of shoulder.

At least 10 cars of the train were derailed and half that number were destroyed by the fire.

The wreckage was being searched by volunteer and railroad workers for other victims.

Officials of the railroad expressed the opinion the accident was caused by a broken rail which was pinned beneath heavy

WAGO MAN IS MAIN SPEAKER FOR MEXIA SCOUT COURT HONOR

MEXIA, Sept. 16.—(Spl.)—Dr. Arthur Stout of Waco was the principal speaker at a county wide court of honor held in Coolidge Friday night when 23 Boy Scouts of Mexico, Coolidge and Waco, received awards ranging from Tenderfoot to Star badges.

The key note of his talk was the influence of the home. With the schools, the church and such organizations as the Boy Scouts of America, doing their part to mould character of our youth, unless the home does its part, we will fall short of our aim, was the sum of his remarks.

A brief meeting of district committee was held in the basement of the church, with Scout Executive George W. Powell, president, and J. G. Coman, of Mexia, district chairman presiding, at which plans for a training school to be held in Mexia in October were discussed.

W. R. Story, chairman presided at the Court of Honor held in the auditorium of First Methodist church, and awards were pinned on the following Scouts by Mrs. W. J. Sellers of Coolidge.

Tenderfoot: Tommie Bolen, Chester Matthews, Rufus Pritchard, Jack Sellers, J. M. Brooks, Jimmie Fiddle.

Second Class: B. H. Matthews, Wesley Merritt, Ruben Wallace, Clyde Mills.

First Class: Alvin Zolllicoffer, Bryan Sellers, Richard Copeland, T. Purifoy, Henry Drumwright.

Merit Badges: Henry E. Drumwright for civics; J. T. Purifoy for handicraft; Colbert Purifoy for handicraft and music; Ralph Vines for reptile study, and horsemanship; Donnell Thomas for reptile study.

The following district committee men were present and made short talks to the scouts as the awards were pinned.

W. E. Storey, W. M. Anderson, J. G. Coman, Max Altman, and S. B. Werner of Mexia. F. W. Williams and W. J. Sellers of Coolidge, E. A. Purifoy of Waco.

It was voted to cancel the regular district court of honor meeting for December, same to be held in connection with the victory Court of Honor to be held in Waco at a later date.

Menelik enjoined on his deathbed that this money should be used only in case of dire national peril. Thus if Mussolini declares war Italy's own gold will be used against it.

Every emperor since Menelik, upon ascending King David's throne, swore never to touch the fund unless the empire's independence was menaced, supplemented by the fortunes of Makonnen and Queen Zauditu. Haile Selassie's war fund has grown enormously. It has never drawn interest, however, since the emperor insisted on keeping the treasure intact in secret vaults under Menelik's mausoleum.

HULL EXPRESSES REGRET OVER NEW YORK MAGISTRATE'S WORDS BUT DISCLAIMS RESPONSIBILITY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The United States today expressed official regret that Magistrate Louis E. Brodsky of New York City had made "insulting" remarks concerning the Nazi flag, but disclaimed responsibility for his words as not voicing any official attitude of this government.

Secretary Hull extended this government's regret orally to Dr. Rudolf Leitner, charge d'affaires of the German embassy, who was summoned to the state department for that purpose.

"Although in this country," Hull said, "the right of freedom of speech is well recognized by our fundamental law, it is to be regretted that an official having no responsibility for maintaining relations between the United States and other countries, should, regardless of what he may personally think of the laws and policies of other governments, thus indulge in expressions offensive to another government with which we have official relations."

Criticizing statements made by Magistrate Brodsky in which he referred to the swastika banner as a "pirate flag" in freeing five alleged communists charged with tearing the flag from the liner Bremen on July 26, Hull said:

"The department is constrained to feel that the magistrate, in restating contentions of the defendants in the case and in commenting upon the incident, unfortunately so worded his opinion as to give the reasonable and definite impression that he was going out of his way adversely to criticize the German government, which criticism was not a relevant or legitimate part of his judicial decision."

TEXAS LEAGUE Against Whiskey Plans Control

DALLAS, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The Texas League against whiskey was lined up today in a movement for a stringent legislative regulation of liquor traffic.

Adopted by the executive committee of the league yesterday, the proposed program demanded a method of licensing of consumers as well as sellers of liquor.

The committee called a state convention for Sept. 24 at Waco. Leaders said the session would be devoted to the consideration of a program to be urged on the legislature, meeting in special session Sept. 16.

An agreement was reached on the plea of Navarro county delegation to ask Attorney General William McCraw to make a test case in that county of the status of local option dry areas under the new law.

AMERICA'S LESSON.

The whole nation is shocked by the tragic and horrible drama enacted in Louisiana. Yet, if Americans are capable of learning anything from example, they ought to learn much from the stricken state's situation.

They should learn the evils of such a dictatorship as the late Senator Huey P. Long had established in one of the sovereign states of the Union. They should learn the debasing quality and the futility of assassination as the way out.

Louisiana has been the victim of a suppressive rule very nearly as severe as that of Mussolini in Italy or Hitler in Germany. That sort of control creates a smoldering rebellion that is always likely, sooner or later, to break out in individual, if not mass, violence.

A keen observer who spent some time in Louisiana last winter says, "The most shocking thing I had to report from New Orleans and Baton Rouge was the general feeling of hopelessness in the ability to throw off Huey's yoke of democratic processes and the widespread belief that it could be done only by force."

To an outsider it seems clear that Louisiana has a long and difficult task ahead of it to restore democracy in its government. A new state constitution which centers less power in the governor may have to come.

In the immediate future a scramble for power may be accompanied by more violence and tragedy. Let Americans observe and realize it is better to hold fast to democracy in the first place, to strengthen the democratic institutions of the free ballot, of freedom of speech and press and assembly, of honest education.

372-YEAR WEATHER CYCLES

Joseph Cassiope, French meteorologist, has spent 15 years studying weather cycles, and believes he has discovered the way to make exact predictions of the weather for a given locality and season.

He starts with the theory that there is a definite relationship between eclipses and other heavenly phenomena and such things as earthquakes, storms, rains, and so on. If, therefore, one could find a previous year in which the same lunar and solar movements occurred as will occur, for instance, in 1936, the presumption is that the weather of the early year will be duplicated in the one coming.

He finds that the same eclipses occur on the same days of the year (making adjustments for calendar changes), at intervals of 372 years.

Basing his predictions on all available information about weather in that region 372 years ago, M. Cassiope predicted that France would have a mild winter in 1934-35, that heavy rains would occur at the end of October, 1934, causing the Rhine to flood in November, and that the summer of 1935 would be exceptionally hot and dry. So far, it is said, all his predictions have come true.

He also made predictions for 1936 and 1937 and is waiting for the event to prove his theory works. It is all very interesting, but of little use to us in America. We don't know enough yet about the local weather of 372 years ago.

THE HOME-MAKER FAILS

They say she looked on marriage as a self-enduring bond which should continue here on earth and in the life beyond; That once the vows were spoken, if the man and wife were true,

Then neither one should worry—there was nothing else to do.

She trusted him entirely and no thought of wrong had she. But there were things besides his wife she thought she ought to be.

So out on worthy ventures she began in time to roam, And serving noble causes she forgot to make a home.

She labored long for culture and for charity she toiled, But sometimes her husband's dinner was by hasty cooking spoiled.

She had sympathy for others, but she never guessed or knew Just how many times her husband ached to share her pity, too.

I quarrel not with culture nor with lofty motives pure, I only know on these alone no marriage can endure.

I only know what men are like—and this is truth I write— They want their wives to welcome them when they get home at night.

PROTECTING OIL LEASES

Senator Pope of Idaho was surely wrong when he declared, in Paris the other day, that the United States government would be obliged to support oil concessions made to American interest in Ethiopia. The concession has since been cancelled but the situation presented gives food for thought.

The senator is reported as basing this belief on "the precedents set up at the time of the Boxer rebellion in China, and on the action in Nicaragua where soldiers and sailors were sent to protect American rights."

Those old precedents cannot be binding now. Government policy has changed since then, and the public attitude has changed. If our present government undertook, whether on the basis of such cases, or by the sanction of existing laws, or by new legislation, to take this country into foreign war to protect American business adventures, it would not be supported by the people.

STEADIED INDUSTRY.

Stabilization of the automobile industry by staggering the introduction of new models and auto shows over a period of several months—beginning in the fall—was regarded dubiously by many motor executives when it was first proposed two years ago. Nevertheless the plan was worked out and has been made effective this year. So far, it seems to be working nicely, and many of the industry's leaders are now wholeheartedly in favor of it.

The auto industry was active right up to the recent shut-down for retooling for new models. In fact, some business was lost by curtailing production of current models before the demand dropped off. It looks now as if that loss would be amply compensated by active business in the fall quarter, formerly one of the lowest seasons of the year. There is going to be a fall rush instead of a fall slump.

Stabilization of this industry has distributed employment a little more evenly than heretofore, and has given a similar advantage to the steel trade and to makers of parts. With this experiment so successful, ways may be sought to put other seasonal industries on an annual production basis. A few progressive industrialists accomplished this end in their own plants years ago. More will soon do so, to the benefit of themselves, their employees and the public.

You never can tell what an "intellectual" person will do. A lot of our intellectuals are using their so-called minds to prove that people have no minds, when any dumbbell would know better than that.

So we may disrecognize Russia for meddling in our affairs. Some cynics are saying we could hardly recognize her if she didn't meddle.

Mussolini, starting a war to dodge a depression, may soon find himself in a worse depression.

CHAMPION HITCH-HIKER!

—By Clive Weed

NONPARTISAN PEACE

Possibly the finest thing in the long and historic session of Congress just ended was the spirit in which that body handled the neutrality resolution. In the face of a foreign war flame that might set the world on fire again, partisanship vanished. There were no more Democrats or Republicans. There was no more question of political expediency or log-rolling. Members of the Senate and House, leaders and followers, were simply Americans, determined to keep their country out of foreign wars.

The neutrality resolution was discussed and adopted quietly, without oratorical display, and therefore was all the more convincing as an expression of American sentiment and statesmanship. Business considerations, which played so great a part in dragging us into the World War, went out of the window along with party and personal politics. The cocky pride of old-fashioned Americanism, which held that any citizen had a divine right to go where he pleased, when he pleased, with the federal government behind him, was sunk without a trace.

Our government will no longer protect war profits. Americans hereafter will travel in war zones and under the flags of belligerent nations at their own risk. Our participation in foreign wars will be restricted to peaceful efforts to prevent them, and to stop them when they start.

That is, if the nation itself thinks, speaks and acts in the right spirit of neutrality shown by Congress in this enlightened act. To make it effective there must be, running through the whole life of our people, through our business and our journalism and our educational systems, a constructive pacifism.

This means an honest effort to understand other nations' problems, and co-operation with them in peaceful ways to correct the evils that produce wars.

HOLIDAY HIGHWAYS

Death works over-time when the American people take a holiday. Over Labor Day week-end, traffic fatalities occurred in this country at the rate of more than three an hour. The total for the two days was 190 deaths and more than 200 persons seriously injured.

Tragic as that figure is, the National Safety Council says it would have been far worse if there had not been widespread rains and unfavorable weather for traveling in many sections. It is an interesting fact that only 15 of the holiday motor fatalities occurred in Ohio where nearly all roads were leading throngs of motorists to the National Air Races in Cleveland. There were no traffic deaths near the airport. The biggest number of deaths occurred in California—26 for the state, 14 in the Los Angeles area.

This illustrates again that where extra precautions are taken heavy traffic is not a peril. It is where the road lies clear and inviting that people take chances—and lose.

THE HURRICANE'S PATH

The whole nation sympathizes with the Florida victims of another tropical hurricane. Yet study of a map of the course of that devastating wind reveals that the storm might have done a great deal more damage if it had not turned in its path just as it did.

Starting as a rather mild disturbance north of Haiti and heading for the Bahama Islands, it veered toward Cuba as it increased in ferocity. Great anxiety was felt for Havana, but again the storm changed direction and struck the Florida keys. Tragical toll of human life was taken there in the veterans' road building camps. Otherwise, the keys are so sparsely populated that the number of possible victims was comparatively low. The storm then turned north-west along the coast line, doing plenty of damage, but less than would have been inevitable if it had gone only a little farther inland.

The vagaries of such a storm are impossible to forecast. Warnings are posted all along its possible route, but no human power can direct its course into harmless paths. It is a matter of pure good luck that this particular hurricane skirted, instead of striking with full force, the more closely populated regions near the area it traversed.

age pensions, most members said, lay the seeds of the greatest controversy. One group favored a state monopoly while another advocated state licensing of private dealers. Bitter clashes over terms of any bill on the subject were forecast.

Advocates of private sales argued that the state ought not to enter the liquor business, while opponents maintained the profit motive should be removed.

"If strict control is what they want," said Representative George Moffett of Chillicothe, a dry leader, "it will be easier to bring it about when profits are absent."

tion or camouflaged saloon, whereby the saloon business may be outlawed, yet practically the same evils of open saloon sales will again be upon us," he said.

Urges Clear-cut Definition.
"I earnestly urge, therefore, a clear-cut, simple, understandable definition and prohibition of the open saloon so as to carry out the letter and the spirit of the constitutional amendment."

Governor Allred did not commit himself as to the merits to the state monopoly or private licensing systems of liquor control, saying the legislature had power to establish either.

"If regulation of private traffic in the liquor business is determined to be the proper policy, then this legislature must intelligently determine upon what basis liquor shall be taxed," he said. "The state needs revenue, not only for the administration of the liquor laws you may pass, but for the general treasury as well."

He asserted the constitutional amendment intended that the people in wet territory were entitled to liquor under proper regulation, and the community which voted dry had an equal right to expect that liquor traffic beyond its boundaries.

Would Prohibit Order Taking.
"It will not be sufficient, in my judgment, to simply prohibit for the state the manufacture, sale, possession and transportation of intoxicating liquors in dry territory," he said. "Every other form of traffic in liquor in such communities should be outlawed. In other words, the need for legislation, such as prohibiting the taking of orders giving, furnishing, et cetera, of liquor within such communities, should be enacted."

Provision for holding local option elections to determine whether subdivisions now desire to permit or prohibit the sale of liquor of more than 3.2 per cent alcohol content.

Simplification in regulations to expedite collection of taxes, detection of violations and prosecutions in liquor cases.

Opening the books of any person, who had been expected to lead the anti-monopolists in the senate, was seriously ill and apparently out for at least two weeks. Senators T. J. Holbrook of Galveston and W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales were regarded as probable successors to the wet leadership.

Two other senate seats were vacant. Senator Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield having died recently, and Senator Ernest Folbourn of San Antonio also being ill. Governor Allred has called a special election for Sept. 28 to fill Duggan's post. A contest of one seat was reported in the house.

Source of Revenue Puzzling.
Although opinions on the liquor question were deeply imbedded, crystallization of sentiment on old-age pensions was lacking. Members frankly were puzzled as to sources of revenue to meet the increased treasury drain and counted heavily on liquor taxes. Close study was given a survey by the state auditor.

Adding to the outlook for a hectic session were prospective reports from several investigating committees.

The report of the house committee investigating hot oil and enforcement of conservation laws by the railroad commission has been pointed out. Representative Augustine Celaya, chairman said the committee might report without recommendations and ask additional funds to pursue the inquiry. Opposition to continuation of the committee was heard.

Another controversy might develop from majority and minority reports of a committee that investigated official actions of J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture. The majority voted to exonerate McDonald of any misconduct, but Representative E. E. Hunter of Cleburne, chairman and another member dissented.

New York Incident.
It empowered Goering, as leader of the reichstag, to summon it into session at will until a new set of by-laws, embodying "leadership" principles, has been evolved and adopted.

The tearing of the Swastika from the prow of the German liner Bremen in New York last month and the action of Magistrate Brinkley in dismissing five defendants in the case were considered by observers to have furnished, in a measure, direct cause for enactment of the laws.

One law effective immediately, proclaimed the Swastika as the reich's national and commercial flag. Black, white and red were the colors of the flag, with Der Fuehrer to designate the form of the reich war flag and the reich official flag.

A second law defining reich citizens, dividing Germans into members of the state, the protection of which they enjoyed, and those of German or similar blood—who would be allowed to serve the reich and its people.

Citizen Letter.
The citizen would be given a reich citizen letter naming him the bearer of citizen privileges, the date for enforcement of the citizenship laws was not immediately fixed.

A third law, entitled "Protection of Blood and Honor," became effective today. It provided that marriages between Jews and Germans were forbidden, and such marriages contracted abroad were declared void.

Extra-matrimonial sexual relations between non-Aryans and Aryans were forbidden under pain of penitentiary punishments. Jews were forbidden to engage Aryan help under 45 years of age, with violations punishable by one year in jail and a fine, or both.

The law provided further that Jews may not fly the German flag, but only the blue and white Zionist emblem.

LOUISIANA

the victim of a carefully laid murder plot, and Justice John B. Fournier, chief of the state supreme court, have been invited to testify. Fournier was credited by some eye-witness of the shooting with deflecting the aim of Dr. Weiss and preventing a second shot by grasping him.

The caucus plans of Long's lawless lieutenants were indefinitely postponed. The claque may be held during the present week and may include representatives of the Long machine throughout the 64 parishes of the state as well as the state officials who were picked by the senator.

Opponents of the machine watched the plans but doubted that any single figure would emerge to dominate as Long did.

INQUEST

the eye specialist fired, told the inquest he fired ten shots at the assailant. Roden said he "shot to keep from being shot," as Dr. Weiss tried to fire again after shooting the senator.

Just before Roden took the stand, Joe Messina, the senator's favorite bodyguard, breaking down and weeping said:

Unloaded Gun Into Weiss.
"When Weiss fired the shot I know he (Long) was killed. I ran up and unloaded my gun into Weiss and shot him. I shot the man who had shot Senator Long."

The hearing, held in the East Baton Rouge parish courthouse, was charged with feeling as the audience was divided between backers of the Long political machine and opponents or the senator's regime.

The first dramatic touch came when the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, organizer of the senator's "share-no-wealth" societies, refusing to answer questions when called as a witness, called District Attorney Odom a "murder plotter."

Named As Murder Plotter.
"I want to say," Smith said, "I respect your court, but I want to say that this district attorney has been named a 'murder plot conspirator. I refuse to respect him. I refuse to be questioned by a man who has not shared in the conspiracies asks the questions. I will answer them. 'I worshipped my hero.'"

District Attorney C. Sidney Fredericks of the Washington St. Tammany judicial district, was questioned by Odom.

Q. Where were you in the capital at the time of the shooting?

A. I was leaving the governor's office and had taken two steps when I heard the first shot. It was followed by a second shot and then a fusillade. I looked out the door just a moment. I saw a number of men down the corridor in some confusion and I withdrew.

Odom attempted to learn from Fredericks whether he saw any one fire any shot and Fredericks said it would be difficult since it happened so rapidly and he was not sure of the identities.

J. T. Cokerham of Denham Springs was the next witness. He said he heard the shooting as he stood in Memorial Hall around the corner from the scene of the shooting.

He said there was little time between the first and second shots and he didn't think there was much between the second and third shots.

Cooper Egan of Baker, the next witness, said he stood at the entrance to the capitol and heard the shots, noticing there was a lapse between the second and third shots.

Supreme Justice John B. Fournier said he was within two feet of Senator Long who had just walked out of the governor's office in the crowded corridor when a small man, later identified as Dr. Weiss, fired through the door and wedged in with a pistol in his hand.

He raised it from his right hip, the judge said, and he grabbed his arm. At the same instant the man fired and Senator Long made an outcry.

The usual outcry that a man would make if he had been shot," he explained.

Bodyguard Grabbed Gun.
"I started to grab the man," he said, "but the bodyguard, Mr. Messina, grabbed Dr. Weiss' pistol and held onto it."

The judge said he pushed the doctor.

"Dr. Weiss stood in a crouched position, trying to fire his pistol," he said, "but he was not allowed to shoot," the judge said. "He appeared to be trying to shoot Roden who was on the floor. I saw Roden pick his pistol but before he could fire the general pistol shooting opened from the back as the other bodyguards came up."

He said he and Senator Long both thought Dr. Weiss had fired two shots but he was not certain whether one or two.

He said Senator Long thanked him as he lay on the operating table for saving him from the second shot.

He said Dr. Weiss did not say a word after the shooting.

Senator Long did not say anything to Dr. Weiss before the latter shot.

Judge Fournier said he ran after Senator Long and found him lying on the floor. He saw the general pistol shooting opened from the back as the other bodyguards came up.

James P. O'Connor, Jr., and some other men.

After the shooting, the judge said Senator Long went down a stairs alone.

Father of Slayer Present.
As a witness testified, Dr. C. Weiss, father of the physician who killed Senator Long, looked on intently from a doorway.

Nearby stood ex-governor John M. Parker, bitter political opponent of Senator Long.

When Joe Messina, Long's favorite bodyguard, took the stand he broke down and wept.

"In a cowardly way, Senator Long was shot," he said.

He could go no further for several minutes.

Then he said:

"When Weiss fired the shot I know he (Long) was killed. I ran up and unloaded my gun into Weiss. I ran up and shot the man who had shot Senator Long."

Dr. C. A. Weiss, father of the slain Dr. Weiss, described his son's actions on the day of the shooting. He said his son visited him early Sunday morning, and he and his wife went to church and returned.

Brought Home Flowers.
He said young Dr. Weiss later brought in a bouquet in honor of the "anniversary" of the birth of his son. The flowers, he said, had been given him by a local florist.

which might be justified against Italy.

Commercial Boycott.
It was stated that the project, as elaborated, part of the project, of the nature of a commercial boycott under which the nations would pledge themselves to neither sell nor buy anything from Italy.

Those close to the negotiations cautioned that the suggested protective boycott should not be considered tantamount to an economic blockade since, it was explained, the word "blockade" immediately suggested the use of warships to enforce it.

The British and French governments have had time to time conversations concerning what action might be pursued in the event of certain things happening. But the British government has made no definite proposals.

A Lithuanian retort to reichsfuehrer Hitler's Nurnberg speech and departure from the hall of the Polish delegation during a speech by Russia's foreign minister, answering Poland's foreign minister brought League of Nations assembly delegates sharply to attention today.

Foreign Minister Stanys Lozoraitis of Lithuania voiced regret that declarations were being made which beclouded the atmosphere of peaceful international relations.

The second sensation came when Maxim Litvinoff, Russian foreign commissar, mounted the rostrum to make a reply to a speech by Foreign Minister Beck of Poland.

Lozoraitis said, "and to accept that any divergencies which may arise will be handled in accordance with the League of Nations charter."

"We are ready at all times to proceed to a loyal exchange of views," Lozoraitis said, "and to accept that any divergencies which may arise will be handled in accordance with the League of Nations charter."

Small Nations Speak Up.
Previously three small nations—Panama, Haiti, and the Irish Free State—urged the League of nations to fulfill its responsibilities in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

The Irish Free State and Panama warned the League assembly that if it could not fulfill these responsibilities, it should admit its futility and its unworthiness to exist further as a peace organization.

Gen Alfred Memours, the delegate of Haiti, added the warning: "The colored people of the world are watching x x x The period of colonial wars is closed."

The Irish spokesman, President Eamon De Valera, said the cost of loyalty to the League principles was "to be thrown into a position of enmity with those with whom we wish to be on terms of friendship."

He said the League of Nations was an occasion to serve; what more heart-rending alternative can there be to the abandonment of duty and the betrayal of the deepest convictions and a word solemnly given?

De Valera continued: "That, however, is the alternative before us and that is the price we may be called upon to pay for the common security without which the peace we need can never be realized."

ITALY

ness that she has displayed toward Italy's East African policy.

A warning to France, that if she casts aside Italy's friendship and enters into a new alliance, she must never again regain it was delivered by the authoritative newspaper La Stampa of Turin.

Governmental Warning.
Since La Stampa is often chosen, because of its geographical location, for governmental statements intended for France, particular importance was attributed to the warning by government circles.

The newspaper said, "It is opportune to recall to M. Laval that on January 7, he and Mussolini aimed at laying the foundations of a friendship not destined to vacillate for argumentative or idealistic motives."

"If this laborious effort must be interrupted, it cannot be regarded as a failure. The prospect of unforeseen developments on other fronts would not convince us, since reality has proved to us that a colonial conflict which could be localized, gives rise to a most absurd combination."

Hope for a peaceful outcome to the Italo-Ethiopian crisis were dashed in gloom even though the five-power committee set up by the League of Nations council to deal with the dispute neared completion of its report.

While official spokesmen for the various delegations endeavored to avoid outright admissions of failure in private conversations, French and British circles indicated the Italian cabinet, communiqué the Saturday closed the door to any compromise.

There were still individual delegates, however, who saw some hopes for the situation, citing the grounds:

1. Premier Benito Mussolini's words, they insisted, have sometimes been harsher than his intentions.

2. The Ethiopian rainy season, outstanding predictions, may postpone hostilities until the peace outlook is more favorable.

3. Even though fighting should start, the League covenant leaves some elasticity for treatment of Italy's case, providing Mussolini does not actually declare war.

Article 16 of the covenant says "Should any member of the League resort to war," but it has not been clear whether military action on either side would be definable as war.

The five-power committee's peace plan, to be completed today or tomorrow, will comprise a preamble and a definite project for collective assistance for Ethiopia.

Murphy Roden, one of Long's bodyguards, was questioned after the district attorney had told him that he did not have to testify if he did not wish because he was a participant.

"I have no objections to testifying," said Roden.

AFTER SEA BATHING.

SUMMERTIME DRY SKINS
Miss Forbes tells you how to get over your mid-summer sundried complexion and how to acquire a smooth new one for your autumn and winter clothes.

We all know that nothing is better for the health, and few things more beneficial to the looks, than a few weeks of sea bathing. Those of us who saved up our holidays for the latter part of the summer, may find about this time that our skins are dry and brown, however a nifty touch of fine texture as a result of the hours in salt water, still, with a nasty tendency towards wrinkles. So let's start to cure this.

Hot water and at lot of oil supply the answer. Twice, a day, at bedtime, and either morning or late afternoon when you are in for a evening shower, wash your face with hot water. Wet a small Turkish towel and hold it over the face, and keep on wetting it until your skin is hot and red. The pores being open now, you apply your cream once. You want a cream made with vegetable oils, perhaps with lanolin as well. Mineral oil creams are only lubricants; vegetable oils really get into the skin and will be absorbed. The thicker the skin will absorb any cream. To be sure of your vegetable oil, I advise making the creams yourself.

Use a lot of the cream. Or use plain almond oil, which you can buy for anywhere from seventeen cents an ounce to thirty cents an ounce in the drug stores. Having no wax in it, this pure oil goes right into the skin and softens and lubricates it. The cream of course will stay on the skin, and you can do a variety of things, reading, sewing, working, you can have a scalp treatment or take a bath, all while the cream soaks into the skin.

Then wipe it off gently. If it is bedtime, leave a film of it on the skin to be taken up during the night. If it is daytime and you are going out, wipe off, then rub the skin with witch hazel, or well diluted alcohol, and use powder and your makeup. But always leave as much cream in the skin as you can. Keep this up for a week or so and the skin will be fine again.

Mrs. K. F.—If possible, the young man should have a scalp specialist examine his scalp. He might be saved from becoming bald by his scalp being conditioned properly now. The condition may not be so serious as that, but many young men begin the sleep of losing hair and other unhealthy symptoms, which will determine that causes baldness due to its injury. The sleep usually runs for four years if it is not cared for properly. A specialist who knows the treatment of the scalp will be able to help right from the start, so the damage is almost arrested, but the germ causing the trouble may take several years to fully develop, though it has the advantage, though in getting after the trouble right in the beginning.

Huge Tooth Found In Gravel Pit Near Trinidad Recently

A tooth, weighing three pounds and seven ounces, from the remains of some prehistoric monster was unearthed Thursday in a gravel pit on the Wharton farm, near Trinidad. The pit is not far from the Trinity. The tooth was found about 20 feet below the surface. Several bones of a prehistoric beast recently were taken from the pit.

Mr. Wharton is preserving the skeleton fragments and is completing plans to establish the type and species of the monster which roamed this county centuries ago. He has steadfastly refused all offers of interested persons who wish to acquire the skeleton parts.—Athens Review.

VIGOROUS DEFENSE OF PEACE PACTS IS DELIVERED BY LAVAL

FRENCH PREMIER DEMANDS ENFORCEMENT OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANTS

By WADE WERNER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff).
GENEVA, Sept. 13.—(P)—Premier Laval of France today placed France in the ranks with Great Britain, Russia and the smaller nations of Europe in defense of the peace obligations of the League of Nations covenant.

"Our obligations are inscribed in the covenant," Laval told the League of Nations assembly. "France will not evade those obligations."

(An Italian government spokesman in Rome stated that what Laval said was neither favorable nor unfavorable to Italy and that it would have no effect upon Italy's course of action.)

To this French stand opposed to the imminent war between Italy and Ethiopia was added a warning by the delegate from Great Britain's dominion of South Africa that an Italian invasion of Ethiopia might lead to racial trouble between the blacks and whites.

Charles Theodore Te Water, the delegate from the Union of South Africa, warned that "Africa will arise" in case of an Italian-Ethiopian war.

"My government," said Te Water, "and the whole people of my country, both black and white, will stand with you against the slow but apparently relentless march of the disease of war into our continent."

Never Forgets Nor Forgives.

"Let it never be forgotten that the long memory of Africa never forgets and never forgives injury and injustice."

The South African delegate even hinted at the possibility his nation might withhold from the league with the words: "We who have been desirous of continuing a most loyal member of the league believing profoundly in its purpose, can continue as such only by a deep conviction in its honor."

Whether Italy would heed these warnings was still uncertain. The irritation of the Italian delegate was gradually mounting. He had been waiting for a real and serious examination of our accusations against Ethiopia, an Italian delegation spokesman said. "We are full of insults, intimidations, and menace against Italy."

The Italian spokesman emphasized that he was not referring to Laval's speech which he said after all was the only kind of "speech the French premier could make."

Italians Disappointed.

Nevertheless, the Italians made little effort to conceal their disappointment that France so definitely had declared herself for solidarity with Great Britain.

Asked point blank if the Italians planned to leave the league, the spokesman answered: "We are staying for the present."

Laval's firm pronouncement that "France will not evade those (covenant) obligations" made a powerful impression on all the delegations.

They widely interpreted his statement as meaning that the French would not shrink from sanctions if it should become necessary to apply them.

It was understood that conversations already have taken place between the powers regarding specific measures to be taken in the Mediterranean and elsewhere in case peaceful conciliation fails.

Still Holds Hope.

It was pointed out, however, that Laval, according to a source in the French government, was in the mood to refer toward conciliation, "still refuses to believe it is without hope."

The French premier was applauded vigorously when he assured delegates that France's close cooperation with Britain continued "for defense of peace."

Friendship between France and Great Britain, he asserted, is "unalterable."

France, he insisted, has not yet lost hope that a solution may be found to the Italo-Ethiopian crisis "which will fulfill legitimate aspirations of Italy."

Laval told the assembly "France is faithful to the covenant."

Laval is Cheered.

The French premier, cheered at length as he took the rostrum, began by asserting that in the current situation, each nation should assume its responsibilities.

France has had cruel deceptions at Geneva, he said, but has never become discouraged and wants to render to the League stronger and stronger.

"The covenant continues as our international law," he declared. "France's politics are based on the League."

Laval cited various pacts, including that between France and Russia, as being based upon the League.

Applause greeted his assertion that France was working in close touch with Great Britain to maintain peace.

Declaring a desire for peace for all, Laval said he viewed with profound emotion the Italo-Ethiopian differences which weighed over the assembly.

He spoke with feeling of the accords he had made at Rome and at Stresa with Premier Benito Mussolini.

Laval said no disaccord existed between France and Great Britain in their search for a peaceful solution to the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

Hopes League Can Succeed.

"I conserve the hope that the League Council can acquit itself of its task of conciliation," he said. "The task is most difficult, but I persist in my hope for a solution which will satisfy the legitimate aspirations of Italy and guarantee the sovereign rights of the other nations."

Laval emphasized the importance of the address by Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary, in which Britain adhered unreservedly to the idea of collective security.

"No country welcomes these words more than France," he said. "This solidarity marks a date in the history of the League."

Six Killed When Train Hits Sedan In Pennsylvania

SUIT INVOLVING TWO MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IS FILED

STATE OF TEXAS PLAINTIFF AND SECURITY TRUST COM- PANY, ET AL, DEFENDANTS

CHURCHVILLE, Pa., Sept. 14.—(P)—A railroad train smashed into a sedan and killed six occupants on the Bristol road crossing about 20 miles north-east of Philadelphia.

Four of the dead are women. The car bore Camden county (New Jersey) license plates.

Two of the dead are believed to be Franz G. Schoenfeld and Mabella G. Schoenfeld, of South Langhorne, near Philadelphia.

It was alleged that the 22 counties had on deposit the sum of $1,999,519.68 and that in February, 1932, the Security Trust company notified the highway department that it had no funds with which to pay checks drawn on said account.

The petition stated that the trust company had placed with the American National Bank bonds to guarantee the payment of the deposits made by the counties. It was further alleged:

That the highway commission requested the counties to transfer to it their claim for deposit and the highway department, and the state of Texas, then and there became the legal owner and holder to the claim for deposit and the bonds because the trust company defaulted in payment of the deposits. Upon the agreement of the highway commission, paid the contractors the sum of $1,999,519 from other state funds.

That in November, 1933, the highway commission released to the counties its claim for deposit and also released the bonds.

That each of the 22 releases was approved by the attorney general of Texas as follows: "Approved this 1st day of November, 1933, the attorney general's department, by Scott Gaines, assistant attorney general."

Was In Violation of Law

That this release was in violation of article 3, section 5 of the constitution, as follows: "The legislature shall have no power to release or extinguish or to authorize the release or extinguishing, in whole or in part, of the indebtedness, liability or obligation of any corporation or individual to this state."

That after the release of this debt allegedly due the state, the Security Trust company delivered to the said counties the bonds which were never theirs, upon condition that the counties released it from their claim for deposit. It was alleged that thereafter the Security Trust company declared a 50 per cent dividend.

That the release had not been made, the petition claims, the state would have realized about the sum of $250,000 from its dividend claim. It was said that the bonds were worth "about 50 cents on the dollar."

The state is attempting to set aside the releases on the ground that they are unconstitutional and void, and to reestablish itself as a creditor of the trust company.

The petition was signed by District Attorney Cook, Wilkinson and Wilkinson of Mt. Vernon and Fred S. Rogers of Austin, as attorneys for the plaintiff.

of Nations."

Laval said Europe had encountered difficulties which, like that over the Saar, had been settled. "We are all bound by solidarity," he insisted. "Our obligations are written in the covenant. France will not seek to avoid these obligations."

Leaves With Italy's Delegate.

The premier was applauded lengthily upon completion of his address. After descending to the main auditorium, he walked out of the hall with Baron Pompeo Aloisi, chief Italian delegate.

Prince Aga Khan followed Laval to the rostrum and said that criticism of the League of Nations was growing in India.

He asserted that India was troubled by the great preponderance of interest, which the League showed to European problems. "A fresh trouble, greater than all others, is now on the horizon," he said. "If the worse comes to worst, which heaven forbid, would that forecast what disasters may ensue."

"The world today is at the parting of the ways. We hope and pray that wisdom may guide it in the choice."

HOPKINS ORDERED TO TAKE CHARGE DRIVE FOR WORKS RELIEF

WPA BE IN CONTROL UNTIL PWA PROGRAM OF ICKES REACHES STRIDE

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 13.—(P)—President Roosevelt announced orders today for the Works Progress Administration under Harry L. Hopkins to take over the works relief drive until the permanent public works program of Secretary Ickes reaches a greater volume of employment.

In a detailed explanation of the whole works problem at his regular press conference today, the President related that yesterday's parley provided a program for the coming six weeks with $85,000,000 additional for direct relief—another reduction in this.

As for the contest between Secretary Ickes' public works plan and Harry Hopkins' temporary works idea, he said the problem was reduced to the proposition of dollars, men to be employed and the time for completion.

He stated it was unlikely that the funds already allocated for permanent structures would reach a peak of employment before next June. Therefore, the gap must be filled in by temporary work until jurisdiction of Hopkins he explained.

Because of this, Mr. Roosevelt said the bulk of the remaining $1,250,000,000 from the four billion fund to be spent in the next four months would go to temporary jobs.

Necessary If Objectives Reached.

This must be done, he asserted, if the objectives of taking 3,200,000 from relief rolls is achieved by the November goal.

At the same time, he said, consideration would be given to the permanent public works projects. He announced that Secretary Ickes has been asked to submit a list of projects of this nature and he laid down four rules for their approval:

These are that contracts must be let on or before December 15; the projects must be completed in a year; they must be in an area where there are sufficient persons to provide the employment; and they must abide by the requirement of average pay of $850 per man for the job.

Will Approve Huge Grants.

Thus declaring for speed and for immediate temporary work, Mr. Roosevelt said he expected before departing on his trip to the Pacific coast that he would approve direct grants to states and municipalities totaling $200,000,000.

It is to be matched on a basis of 55 per cent by the communities, making a total of about $425,000,000 for local projects.

In addition, he said the public works administration is under orders to ascertain immediately what projects already authorized are not being pushed. These are to be cancelled and the funds are to be used elsewhere. This is expected to provide an additional $220,000,000.

All in all, it looked like the President in his work speed orders gave the edge to Harry Hopkins with a chance to Secretary Ickes to get his program in line by the December 15 deadline.

Ickes and Hopkins left here late last night together for Washington, on friendly terms, but apparently with a six weeks period to prove their cases.

Expects Rehabilitation.

For rural rehabilitation and housing, the President said he expected corporate entities to be formed to provide for repayment to the government of the homes to be built by the government.

Money is to be provided, he expects, to 100,000 families based on farms for purchase of necessary implements and for those farmers suffering from effects of the drought.

There also is to be an effort, he said, to establish small enterprises in the farm communities to provide work during the slack season.

He is asking Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and Morris L. Cooke, director of rural electrification, to seek to carry on this undertaking very largely by government loans rather than by direct grants under the four billion Works fund.

The President also announced a policy to establish permanently the Civilian Conservation Corps but on the basis of a reduced enrollment of 300,000 men. There are now about 600,000 men in the C. C. to meet this present requirement he authorized an additional allowance of $75,000,000.

Looking to an end of emergency work but a continuation of rural and urban rehabilitation, Mr. Roosevelt spoke of seeking legislation to provide revolving funds for housing whereby public construction would be paid for by returns of the beneficiaries to the revolving funds.

He explained that $200,000,000 has been segregated for urban housing but declared this work would be continued to projects under way or which can be started by February.

Two of these projects costing $7,400,000 are under way now. For thirteen others the land has been acquired and they will be started in the next six days, involving $26,500,000. Preliminary work has been substantially completed, he said, for 21 other urban housing projects totaling $51,000,000. Another $15,000,000 is set aside for projects which can be started by February. This means a cut of $100,000,000 in the original allotment for public housing.

This sum is to be transferred to Secretary Ickes, Public Works administration for projects which can be started by December 15.

In speaking of the average of $850 per man, the President explained that the four billion dollar fund is to be divided so that this average will be paid in wages for each person employed under it. He laid down no rule on daily wages.

There is no definite period of time specified for the $850 wages. It is an arithmetical problem, dividing the four billion dollar fund for an average wage of $850 per man.

BLOOMING GROVE, Sept. 13.—(P)—J. R. Griffin, postmaster here, has been appointed Navarro county chairman of the Texas Postmasters Association. The state association is making a membership drive and plans to make a determined effort to bring the National convention to Dallas during 1936 while the Centennial is in progress.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—(P)—Howard Hughes, film producer, oil man and, incidentally, a flier, hung in his trophy room today an official American world speed record for land planes of 352.46 miles an hour and applied for international recognition of his mark.

The National Aeronautics association certified his American record after final calibration of moving pictures of the speed trials, made yesterday.

Whether his speed will supplant the recognized record of 314.319 miles an hour, held by Raymond DelMotte of France, depends on the decision of the Federation of Aeronautique Internationale, in Paris, after studying the N. A. A. reports.

Young Hughes—he is 30 years old—was clocked by both cameras and an electrical timing device on seven swift rushes on a north-and-south course. His top speed was 355.38, his slowest 339.12.

On the last of the seven Hughes' skill and the sturdy construction of his new $120,000 craft combined to prevent tragedy.

Hughes brought the ship to a safe landing "on its belly" in a field after it ran out of gasoline. The landing was made at a speed of about 80 miles an hour before Hughes could drop the retractable landing gear. The ship was damaged.

William R. Eynart, secretary of the contest board of the N. A. A. said the mark of 352.46 represented Hughes' average of his fastest two flights each way.

Hughes plans to give the United States army the benefit of the data he has acquired in flying the plane, as well as to allow army aviation engineers to study the ship. He said he would attempt at a future date to break the transcontinental speed record of 10 hours, 2 minutes, now held by Col. Roscoe Turner.

BRITISH MYSTERY
FLEET REPORTED BE CRUISING AT SEA

LONDON, Sept. 14.—(P)—There were indications today that a mystery fleet of upwards of 25 crack British battle cruisers, destroyers, mine sweepers, mine layers and other fighting craft is cruising somewhere at sea.

The ships left Portland, scene of the home fleet rendezvous on Aug. 31 and thereafter had been reported in the admiralty's list of ship movements.

Despite strict secrecy about most naval movements, the admiralty said today the battle cruiser Hood, one of the largest in the world and which left Portland at the same time, now is back at that base.

Officials declined, however, to give out information concerning other ships.

The list of marine fighters about which the mystery developed following the disclosure that they had put out from Portland "for exercises" included the battle cruisers Renown, Orion, the Achilles, and the Cairo and a wide variety of other craft.

Three destroyers, the Comet, the Crescent and the Crusader, which left Portland with the group Aug. 31 turned up suddenly at Alexandria, Egypt, on Sept. 8 and departed mysteriously for an undesignated port.

Recently observed at Portland said the ships gathered there for the home fleet movements mostly were fully provisioned and equipped and many could steam seaward instantly for cruises of two or more months in length.

A rapid, steady and secret concentration of ships in the Mediterranean during the last several weeks has resulted in the concentration or upward of 50 fighters at Alexandria, Haifa, Port Said, Malta and other strategic points.

At the same time there has been a secret concentration of the Italian fleet off the southern coast of Sicily.
